Irich Republican Campaign Club. Last evening a meeting of this club was held at their rooms, 196 Bowery. There were about thirty persons present. General D. F. Burke presided, and naving called the meeting to order observed that this was a political assemblage of Irishmen who dif-fered from the majority of their countrymen in this It proposed to support Grant for President and Colfax for Vice President. The immediate objects of the association were to forward and promote republican ideas, and show the difference between them and those of the democratic party, which he abmitted was the enemy to progress and liberty.

The secretary, W. J. Hogan, then read a series of resolutions endorsing the platform adopted by the ational Republican Convention as fairly embodying the sentiments of the loyal people of the country on the great questions of the day, and regarding the stand taken therein against the pretensions of England on the question of the rights of naturalized elitzens and the determination to maintain the dignaty of the United States and the rights of its citizens at every hazard as conclusive evidence that the republican party was the friend of freedom and deserved the support of the naturalized citizens. Further, that the meeting pledge itself to secure the election of Grant and Colfax, convinced that the ability, patriotism and eminent services of each entitle them to the support of the American people. The Secretary also read a lengthened address on behalf of the objects of the club. It stated that the Irish people followed the leaders of the democratic party merely through prejudice, and not because the principles advocated tended towards the advancement of the country. The address drew a difference between the two opposing parties, and strongly advocated the adoption of republican as the best calculated to develop the interest of Irishmen. Mr. Hunr, of the Eighteenth district, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the com-

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be directed to take measures in reference to the registry to be made next fall so that proper persons be employed to copy the lists of registry, so that a proper canvass can be made by the police whereby fradulent votes may be kept out at the next election. Mr. Thomas, of the Twentieth district, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Executive Committee:—

Resolved, that the republican associations of the different Assembly districts be requested to forward to the secretaries of this committee, on or before the 16th day of next August, a list of names for one-half of the olders of inspectors and canvassers of elections in their respective Assembly districts, with the view of enabling this committee to compile a complete its in behalf of the republican party, to be submitted to the Police Commissioners for confirmation.

It was announced that the republicans of the Seventeenth district would inaugurate their new campaign rooms on the evening of June 15, and that General Sickies, Horace Greeiey and other speakers would be present to address the meeting.

Mr. W. P. RICHARDSON remarked that as they were preparing for a grand, perhaps doubiful, campaign the committee ought to use its induence to have Congrees, before this ession is over, pass a law to prevent the frands in the natoralization of citizens,
This was their great weakness and the main cause of the large democratic majorities.

CHARLES S. SPENCER moved that a committee of two be appointed to draw up a memorial to Congress, that such action might be taken as would prevent the naturalization frands.

General Coccuran thought a memorial presented to Congress now would not have the effect which might be had by a visit personally by the committee

CHARLES S. SPENCER believed that such a law was feasible, and that if it were passed five thousand or ten thousand fraudulent votes might be saved. In one court slone where not more than twenty-five persons had been seen over two thousand fraudulent votes had been counted. This was the most important of all considerations for the committee.

JAMES CUSHING remarked that the less noise that was made by the committee in pressing this matter before Congress the better, as the republican party no longer had a two-thirds majority there.

ALEXANDER WILDER had no faith whatever in the integrity of the courts of this city. The more noise they made on this subject the less courage the coppenieds would have to oppose the measure.

It was then resolved that such a committee be appointed, with power to proceed to Washington.

Mr. A. J. H. DUGANE officed the following resolutions, which were adopted with enthusiasm:—

That this Convention, actuated by a desire to cultivate a spirit of harmony and conciliation among the members of the national democratic party, and to secure the nomination of such candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency as shall command the largest number of the suffrages of those opposed to the present ruinous radical rule, and therefore unwilling to discriminate at this time, in advance, between the eminent statesmen and distinguished soldlers who may be presented for nomination, pledges itself to accept and support the nominees of the New York Convention of the the 4th of July bext; and to the end that the delegates to be chosen by this Convention to represent this State in New York, looking to the interests of the entire country and to the integrity and success of the democratic party, may exercise their discretion and best judgment, it is hereby declared that said delegates are left free and uninstructed as to the candidates for whom they shall cast the vote of this State.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23, 1808.

I have frequently said there was no hope for the industry of the nation in the republican party. That was clearly demonstrated at Chicago. Wall street run the whole cohoern, and bound the party body and soul to the money swindlers. The platform adopted at Chicago is an insult to every workingman in the country and an outrage upon common sense. They favor a reduction of taxation and recommend measures that make any reduction in taxation an impossibility. The great hand and labor reform questions are ignored altogrether. They pledge their "sympathy with all the oppressed people who are struggling for their rights," and repudiate the claurs of the oppressed people at home who are struggling for their rights and starving while they struggle.

SENATE CHAMBER, WASHINGTON CITY.

DEAR SIR—I have your letter of the luth, in reference to the removal of your political disabilities. I am not sure that the time has yet come to make exceptions to our general policy in individual cases. To do so would be to open the door to innumerable applications, and once open, it would be difficult to shutt. I hope to meet such cases as yours by some governle enactments, and as soon as the condition of the country will permit, I shall be the first to advocate the removal of all disabilities under which you labor at present. Yours truly,

It appears that the distinguished Breckinridge democrat of Massachusetts telegraphed an inquiry as to the condition of certain bank accounts and the passage of certain checks. The reply was, in effect if not in words, that it was none of the honorable gentleman's business. Thereupon the remarkable conservative Congressman from Massachusette assumed to be the embodiment of the Congress of the United States, and wanted to know whether the reply returned was deemed courteous and respectful towards the Con-gress of the United States. INE KINGSTON (MASS.) MURGER.

In the case of Samuel Andrews, charged with the murder of Cornelius Holmes, at Kingston, the prisoner has waived an examination and now awalts the action of the Grand Jury, which sits at Plymouth on Tuesday next, although it is understood that no action will be taken in his case until all other business shall have been disposed of. Although nothing but circumstantial evidence has yet been discovered, recent developments tend strongly to connect Andrews with the murder. In a conversation with him at the jail yesterday, an intimate friend (also a relative) informed him that he came to assist him, that he could to enable him to prove his innocence, when he was astonished by the following! reply: "They may confine me or hang me, but I'll never confessit." A pair of rubber overshoes have been discovered in a closet where Andrews kept his clothes in Newcomb's factory (at which place he was employed), covered with mud, corresponding with the soil of his garden, also with blood and gray hairs. A rail was also discovered in Andrews' fence this morning, by Mr. Beais, of Kingston, having marks of blood upon it apparently made by the fingers of the murderer. Andrews is visited daily by a large number of friends and appears quite calm, salthough it has been ascertained that he has been constantly under the influence of ether for several weeks, being now, however, deprived of the use of it by order of Sherig Betes.
